

ACE: Committed to Our Clovis Students and Community

WHO ARE WE?

We are the collaborative & collective voice of Clovis Unified School District's hard-working, dedicated educators. We are teachers, psychologists, itinerant specialists, and school counselors. We are parents of children in Clovis schools. We are veteran educators who graduated from the district we now serve, as well as educators who are new to our profession or new to CUSD culture, and we offer a wealth of diverse experiences and knowledge in practicing our vocation. We represent the "best of the best" and educate our community's youth with pride and integrity.

WHAT DO WE BELIEVE?

As educators, we believe we are fundamental to providing the excellent education our schools offer. Through our hard work and our unwavering determination to do what is best for ALL children, we sustain the high standards our district is known for and succeed in educating the whole child - in mind, body and spirit. We know that it truly is "people, not programs," because our daily interactions with students matter immensely and ensure that every kid "gets a fair break." We are the people who cultivate students who will be connected to and invest in their community as our fellow citizens.

WHAT DO WE NEED?

In order to do our important work as educators, we need to stay true to the roots of our traditions without letting habits and stale systems hamper our commitment to innovation and accountability. We believe our work requires an equitable culture and structure that gives our diverse voices equal footing and decision-making power in the collaborative conversations among district stakeholders about issues that impact our students and our district as a whole. With opportunities for genuine dialogue, transparency, and inclusivity, we can advocate meaningfully for decisions that respect the unique perspectives we gain from day-to-day interactions with our students, their families, and our community. In a decision-making climate where advocacy is welcomed as a positive catalyst for improving students' educational experiences, we will model for our students the important values on which our district is founded.

OUR CALL TO ACTION

We no longer accept the status quo, in which our representative body merely disseminates information and educators merely advise and make suggestions. Through unionizing, we seek efficacy and a real vote in the policies and processes that directly affect our work with our students.
